Foxy, Lady, lead the way

Stupid headline, right?
So, sue us.

Foxy is what West Hills coaches call Evan Fox, who is one of the best ever distance runners to come out of the San Diego area.

The Lady, and she definitely is that, is Morse's Monique Henderson, who might eventually become known as the best ever track athlete, boy or girl, to come from San Diego.

Someday, you might be telling your grandchildren about these people. And, about some other people.

What he have here is a great crop of young track stars. This is one of the vintage years that people will talk about. Like 1966, for instance.

That was a year. Three state champions, three national leaders (and that was when only boys were running, and when there were only fourteen events regularly contested in California).

(NOTE: for more on one of those state champ/national leaders, see page three.)

But more on that some other time. What's key is what's here and now.

People, and lots of them, should be paying admission to see these athletes. The local press should be paying more attention, but then again, hey!, it's time for a relay race between cheerleaders from small-time local pro hockey and basketball teams (that's an inside joke for those unlucky enough to have attended the last, and I hope it is THE last, San Diego Indoor Games).

Question: if you remember the 1960s, does that mean that you weren't really there? Maybe, but check page 3 to be sure.

Our SEASON PREVIEW explores six events in depth:

Monique and her pals may wreak havoc in the 400 meters. See page 4.

Fox and a cast of thousands are out to rule the world in the 1600. See page 5.

Golston, Salimi, Hunter and some hot girls star in the hurdles. See page 6.

The vaulters are flying! See page 7.

Will the triplers get out to 50 feet this year? See page 8.

Will this be the greatest year ever in the girls shot? Can the boys find another 60-footer or two? See page 9.

Our meet coverage includes the amazing Bronco Invite, and the other hot local and out-of-town action. It begins on page 10.

You've just vaulted 13-9! Great, but where does that put you in the county? Quick, turn to pages 14 through 16.

Just call it the year of the...

From page one.

You hear lots of moaning and groaning (mostly from certain millionaire owners) about Qualcomm Stadium not being state of the art, and not being quite good enough for the beloved Lightning Bolts.

You don't hear anything about Balboa Stadium, a San Diego landmark for most of the last century, and how it is being allowed to deteriorate, to the point where the local track coaches don't even want to have big meets there anymore.

Monique Henderson runs at the Indoor Games, and she is not even introduced to the fans, most of whom don't know that they are seeing greatness. How sad is that?

Locally, some of the best athletes most people have never heard of are working their butts off, and doing amazing, wonderful, exciting things.

But, you know, it's Final Four weekend, and the baseball season is opening in Japan, and Ryan Leaf is having some problems finding the Chargers' practice facility.

This is shaping up to be a historic year. We have a girl runner that is already close to being good enough to try out for an Olympic team berth.

We have several other athletes that are potential state champions, and California is the best state there is of which to be the champion.

The UT's track preview called this the Year of the Milers. That's fine, but it's also the year of the 800 meter runners. Not to mention the year of the 400 meter runners, on the girls side. Henderson alone makes it that.

Or it could be the year of the vaulters, as several athletes could threaten 16 feet. Or maybe the year of the shot putters, on the female side, what with Candace Hill and a Sweetwater freshman that could be the new Candace Hill.

Or it could be the year of the hurdlers, but that's only if you like really, really fast times.

Or it might be the year of the triple jumpers, if you think covering 50 feet in three steps is cool.

Of you might think about calling it the year of speed, what with all the talent in the boys 100, the boys 200, Henderson in the girls 100 and 200, and some great short relay teams.

Or, the year of the two-milers (okay, 3200 meters for you Euro types).

Just don't call it dull.

Getting back to my roots...

Memory is a funny thing.

When I was doing research for my story on Terry Rogers (see page three), I entertained a lot of very old memories.

My first real journalism job was as a sports photographer for the Chula Vista Star-News, back in 1964.

I was attending Southwestern College in those days, and this was while the present campus was still under construction.

Classes were held, beginning at about 3 p.m., at Chula Vista High School. We would arrive about the time that the Chula Vista High track team began daily workouts or meets.

When a Chula Vista home track meet came along, I ditched my 3 o'clock. If it was a good meet, I ditched my 4 o'clock. Sometimes, I didn't go to class at all. My grade point average was roughly the same as Bluto Blutarski's.

Hey, the Spartans were fun to watch. They had these great sprinters, and there was this kid in the half mile that everybody said was going to be good. Tim Danielson. His older brother, Mike Danielson, was a Chula baseball player. He had a disagreement with the coach or something, and he said, to heck with all that, I think I'll run track my senior year. And younger brother Tim joined him on the team.

The next year, I was the sports editor of the Star-News, and I was (in theory) getting paid to see some great track.

Tim Danielson, now a junior, was improving his PR in the mile almost every week. It would get down to 4:08 by the end of the season.

Across town (that is, up the hill from Chula Vista), there was that distance-running group at Hilltop High. They had a junior runner that they thought was good, named Terry Rogers. For more on him, see the next page.

Anyway, I decided to do a column about their training. I phoned each coach and got some of their workouts, which I published.

Later, the Hilltop guys came up to me and scoffed that Danielson couldn't be doing those kinds of intervals. What, was he a four-minute miler or something?

The Chula guys thought that the Hilltop coach was exaggerating Rogers' workouts. Who does he think he is? Some kind of great runner?

The truth finally came out. It was a special time.

All-time Track:

Hilltop's Rogers is the 'forgotten' half-miler

Terry Rogers has never gotten the respect that he deserves.

He's one of the greatest prep distance runners to ever come out of the San Diego Section, but few have heard of him, and fewer can remember him.

Even the San Diego Union-Tribune Track & Field Guide lists the former Hilltop great as "Terry Rodgers," possibly confusing him with the former great Sweetwater High running back.

That's really nothing new for Rogers (no "d"), who actually didn't get the recognition he really deserved even while he was an active athlete.

So, who is he, and why should we care now?

He was very nearly the best prep distance runner ever to come out of San Diego. Only he was overshadowed, even during his own career, by the greatest high school half-miler and the greatest high school miler that this area has ever produced.

San Diego has a rich, storied track & field history, with state champions, national record holders,

Fast 'halfs' rare in duals

When Evan Fox of West Hills ran 1:53.2 for 800 meters against Rancho Bernardo last week, it was the fastest dual meet time for the event since the 1960s, when some of the county's best-ever distance runners were active.

The best two-lap marks by San Diego area athletes in dual meets are:

1:53.2, for 880 yards (equal to 1:52.6, metric), by Tim Danielson, Chula Vista, on April 1, 1966, in a dual meet vs. Escondido, at Esccondido.

1:53.2, for 880 yards, by Terry Rogers, Hilltop, on April 29, 1966, in a dual meet vs. Castle Park (probably at Castle Park).

1:53.5, for 880 yards (equal to 1:52.9, metric) by Bob Hose, Madison, on April 17, 1964, in a dual vs. Mission Bay, at Madison.

1:53.2, for 800 meters, by Fox, March 23, 2000, in a dual vs. RB, at West Hills.

1:53.9, for 880 yards (equal to 1:53.3, metric) by Danielson, in 1965, in a night dual meet vs. Mount Miguel, at Mount Miguel.

All of the running surfaces were dirt tracks.

future Olympic gold medalists, future world record holders and some bonafide legends.

One you might have heard of is Bob Hose, of Madison High School, class of 1964.

Hose is still the fastest ever two-lap runner from this area, 36 years later.

He ran 880 yards in 1:49.2, the equivalent of a hand time of 1:48.6 for 800 meters. At the time he achieved that mark, it was equal to the fastest high school time run, ever, in the nation.

Another local legend you may have heard of is Tim Danielson, a 1966 graduate of Chula Vista High.

He ran the mile in 3:59.4, and he was the second high school runner to break four minutes, after Jim Ryun. Danielson is still the number two all-time miler in national high school history.

In both cases, Rogers was just behind them.

First, Hose. Two years after Hose established his record, Rogers peaked, running a 1:50.4 for 880 yards (equal to 1:49.8 for 800 meters). He was a state champion, and the national leader that year, but still just a shade behind Hose, who had just preceded him.

Then, Danielson. Rogers and Danielson were running at the exact same time, just a few blocks from each other, in Chula Vista.

No matter what Rogers ever did, Danielson always got the major share of publicity, even at the Chula Vista level.

And Terry wasn't bad. As documented elsewhere on this page, he and Danielson both posted 1:53.2 dual meet 880s in 1966, still the fastest run around here in a dual meet (and both on dirt).

The two rarely raced. Rogers was more of an 880 runner, while Danielson's best event was the mile. Rules of the day prohibited doubling in distances longer than 440 yards, so the two usually ran different events.

They did hook up once, and it was memorable. It was in 1966, their senior years, and they raced at Sweetwater High in what used to be known as the JayCee Relays.

What observers most remembered about that race is that they all thought that Rogers was going to win their historic duel.

Danielson had run 4:08 and won the state championship the year before, and most assumed he would beat half-miler Rogers at Tim's best distance.

Rogers almost won. One fan later said, "At the end of the race, everybody was going, 'My God, Rogers is going to win, Rogers is going to win.'"

Danielson pulled it out, 4:11.2 to 4:12.2, although it turned out later that the track was short.

The time was not important, anyway. What was significant was that Rogers could run within a step or two of the greatest all-time local distance runner.

He ran plenty of quality times on tracks that were known to be accurate.

For instance, there was this progression for his 880 yard times in his senior year (1966):

April 29, dual meet vs. Castle Park. Rogers ran 1:53.2.

May 13, Metro League finals, at Mar Vista. Rogers ran 1:51.8.

May 21, CIF prelims, at Balboa Stadium. Rogers cruised 1:52.3.

May 27, CIF Finals, at Balboa Stadium. Rogers won in 1:51.6, after a 54-second first lap. San Diego High's Doyle Steele broke the national high school record in the long jump that night, flying 25-5.25, and he got the headlines.

June 3, State meet heats, at Edwards Stadium, in Berkeley. Rogers ran 1:52.7.

June 4, State meet final, at Edwards Stadium. Rogers won in 1:51.5. At the same meet, Danielson won his second state title in the mile, and Steele went past 25 feet to win the long jump. Danielson and Steele got most of the ink.

June 11, San Diego Relays (an open meet), at Balboa Stadium. Rogers held up well in an international field and ran 1:50.4, the fastest U.S. high school time of the year. But it was the same meet where Danielson ran his still amazing 3:59.4, so almost everybody immediately forgot Rogers' race.

One other factor helped Rogers to retreat into obscurity. He stopped running immediately after high school, to concentrate on raising a family.

He deserves better. Please, Union-Trib guidebook, it's Terry R-O-G-E-R-S. No D. No Duh.

The 2000 Preview:

Track Magazine's 2000 track & field preview is organized by event, which is a slightly different take than we've had in past years.

In this issue, we look at, in depth, six events. They include a sprint race, a distance race, a hurdle race, a vertical jump, a horizontal jump and a throw.

We include the best marks from local boy and girl athletes in each event, including PRs from 1997 to 2000, followed by what we hope are insightful comments.

In addition to a top ten marks list overall, we also break it down by individual leagues, providing marks in depth. We think that this is a more coherent approach to placing so much information in any kind of context.

In future issues, we'll catch up on the remaining ten events.

What to look for:

This event might be the most wide open of any boys event this season. That translates into a big-time opportunity (at least at the local level) for a sprinter willing to move up.

A prime candidate would be a runner such as UC's Steve Hayes, who is noted for his work ethic. In a brief glimpse last year, he breezed a 49.08 in early April. But Hayes is already one of the best in the state at 100 and 200, so he may stick with those races. At the least, however, we might see him on the UC 4x400 team.

The best young 400 runner is Serra's Fiat Johnson, a sophomore who is already running 50.14. His speedy name seems more than appropriate.

RB's Beckstead qualified for state last year, and has started the year well ahead of last year's pace.

Briggs, who transferred from Mira Mesa to the UC sprint factory, appears to be thriving. He leads the yearly list with his 49.8.

Hoover's Tate, the nephew of the late Olympic sprint great Florence Griffith-Joyner, should also be right at the top of the list of serious contenders.

Point Loma's Thayer may or may not be back this season. If he does return, he has great talent.

San Pasqual's Nunez has already PR'd after working hard on his strength in the off-season (he ran well in cross country).

His teammate, J. C. Martinez, has a PR that dates back to his sophomore year. He's battled injuries since then, and has yet to return to that form.

Fiat Johnson

Morse's Mathis was a dynamic addition to the charts last year, but he's been slowed in this early season by an ankle sprain. Expect him to be a factor.

Crawford's Vann is another in a long line of excellent Colt sprinters.

Best bets to break into the top group are Helix's Nathan, a tall runner who is still developing, Granite's David Evans, a freshman with eye-catching talent, RB's Jeff Berman, a transfer who is improving fast, and the young Lincoln sprinters, Cannon and McDaniels.

And, of course, a short sprinter to be named later.

What to look for:

History is being made in this event.

Monique Henderson is, of course, the best ever girl 400 runner from this area, and she has been since she began her career at Morse.

She won state titles as a freshman and as a sophomore, and then took it up a notch last summer.

She won the junior nationals (competing against girls that included college freshmen), and PR'd a brilliant 51.96. That puts her into the top ten, all-time, on the national high school list.

Remember, she's just starting her junior track season.

She is enroute (if she stays healthy) to winning four state titles in a single event, which is Marion Jones territory.

She is on a career path that could get her at least close to the national record of 50.87.

We could be getting a bit ahead of ourselves, but appropriate longer range goals would include feats that would be, well, Olympian.

She could even run fast enough to qualify for this year's Olympic Trials, although she may elect to continue her brilliant junior career.

"If she has a chance at making the team, we might think about it," Morse coach Gary MacDonald said. In the 400 meters, the Olympic team adds a number of relay members, so there are more than three slots up for grabs.

There ARE three state meet slots up for grabs, so no matter how good Henderson is, there are two other tickets to Cerritos waiting to be claimed.

Please turn to page 5.

The 400

RBV has a dynamic duo with Neal, returning from an injury, and Hall, just a soph. They went one-two at the Bronco Invite (Henderson ran the 800).

RB's Landry is another soph, who qualified for the state meet last year. She has great all-around talent, and could possibly move into another event at year's end.

La Jolla's Givens is an all-around talent.

La Costa's Tsu added strength in the off season and could move up.

Point Loma's Cunningham started the season late, but could make up ground.

There are some old marks on the top ten list above. Ray and Bravin both have PRs from 1997, and Sanders' best came in 1998.

Possible breakthroughs could come from a sprinter moving up, such as San Pasqual's Tiffany Lowery, or from a talented youngster like Eastlake's Tanisha Johnson or Helix's Bryeanna Barmer, both of whom will probably run the long hurdles.

Another possibility is Tate, who didn't run last year. She's already run a sub-60 relay split.

What to look for:

The Bronco Invitational race demonstrated that Fox is on the verge of a great season. In that meet, he decidedly beat a loaded field (Rankin, Moorcroft, Ricketts, Neuroth, etc.), and impressively ran a 4:14.02 off a slow early pace. That may have been enough to stamp him as the early favorite at state.

Expect Fox to run great times in other races from time to time (in fact, he's already run 1:53.2 and 9:39 in duals).

Neuroth's recent breakthrough at 3200 (9:18) could cause him to seriously think about moving up. If he stays in the 1600, he's a definite threat to break 4:10.

McInvale will run the 3200 at the end of the year, and Ricketts is expected to run the 800, but both athletes could find themselves doubling in this event at CIF and maybe narrow down at Masters. If Ricketts ends up in this race, he also has 4:10 potential.

Laird and Thornton, also both on the top ten list above, will almost certainly specialize in their best events (3200 for Laird, 800 for Thornton).

That leaves Rankin, Moorcroft and Pope, all with truckloads of potential, and a notable darkhorse.

Rankin ran 4:20 as a soph, but his development stalled a bit last spring. He rebounded with some strong running in cross country, and already has PRd this year.

Moorcroft is in only his second year of track, but now has some training background after an excellent cross country season. Just out from basketball, he also recorded a PR at Bronco.

Julie Komosinski

Pope, a cross country standout for years, is also in only his second season of track. He's ready to go well under 4:20 this season.

The darkhorse would be West Hills' Ben Aragon. His 1600 PR is "only" 4:32, but he has run 3:08 for 1200 meters, indicating sub-4:20 ability at the very least. He has 1:55 800 speed, and it seems about the right time for him to give this event a serious try.

What to look for:

Komosinski, a junior, is on the most dramatic arc of improvement among the top runners, taking her PR down from 5:18 as a frosh to 4:56 last year, and adding a great cross country season (she was Track Magazine's Runner of the Year in girls cross country). She has deceptive speed that she uses to lethal effect against her foes. She is expected to concentrate on this race at year's end.

Davila's PR dates back to her frosh year, but now she seems ready to improve. She finished strongly in cross country, and probably won't run as many events as last year.

Petersen returns to track after missing all of last season with an ankle injury (soccer). She is expected to concentrate on the 3200 at the end of the year.

Manson will be a 3200 runner at Masters, but could double at CIF.

San Diegoito's Timinsky could go a number of ways, but might opt for the 800 at year's end.

Among the most improved runners are UC's Ziegler and Helix's Stephanie Baird.

Ziegler ran a quick 5:05 as a soph, but didn't look as sharp last spring. She finished the cross country season well, and has already put up a 5:12 this season.

Baird, a soph, ran an impressive 5:16.7c in a dual meet, indicating faster times to come.

It would be no surprise to see four or five runners dip below five minutes, which would make it an excellent year. Komosinski and Davila are both aiming for the 4:50 level, and runners like Petersen, Manson and Timinsky all could go sub-5:00 in the right race.

The one down note is the absence of last year's frosh sensation Allison Hall. After a strong cross country season, she contracted spinal meningitis. Her condition was serious, and she'll need several months, at least, just to regain her health.

What to look for:

This is going to be one of the area's very strongest events, judging from the quality of the returning athletes and how they've started this season.

We can start with Golston, who is arguably the best all-around athlete in local boys track. He used a dynamic stretch run at the state meet last year to move up to third place and run 39.68, which is the third fastest time in this event in section history.

Only section record holder Kevin Jones (Mount Miguel, 1988, at 36.44), and Felix Sanchez (University City, 1995, at 36.82) have better marks than Golston.

Golston joined the team late this spring, after playing basketball, but looked sharp at the Bronco Invite, running a strong flight of highs, and coming on strong down the stretch in the 300s. His times of 14.42 and 38.02 are far ahead of where he was early last year. He'll be a strong state contender again.

"He is working real hard on his strength," Pointer coach Dave Schuler said. "We do a lot of hard hill work. We make use of our hills."

RB's Salimi led early in the Bronco meet, and finished in 39.09,

Tony Golston
Point Loma

Tanisha Johnson

which is quick for mid-March. He was a finalist in this event at Sacramento last year. Look for him to be on the state meet medal stand in June, also.

Granite's Hunter has hurdles in his genes. His father, Jim Hunter, the Granite boys coach, was a standout high hurdler at Crawford in the early 1960s. Now just a junior, Jeff's hurdle clockings as a frosh and soph are as fast as it gets for those grade levels, locally. He also made it to state last year.

El Camino's Sweat, a standout football player, is also in the mix, based on his PR from last year.

Other standouts are West Hills' Conerly, who competes well in a number of events, Coronado's Simmons, Escondido's Failla, and Serra's Nears. In most years, any of those runners could be a strong contender to make it to the state level.

What to look for:

It's been a while since any area athlete has dipped under 44-seconds in this event. Only four local hurdlers have ever done it, and none have since 1991.

That seems about to change, as several athletes have the potential to run 44.0 or faster.

Poway junior Audrey Pound has been steadily improving throughout her career. She ran 46.69 as a frosh, and lowered that to 45.95 as a soph last year. This year, she's already at 45.5, which she ran on a dirt track at the Falcon Relays last week. Where she'll top out is uncertain, but she seems destined to dip under 45.0 at the least.

RB's Dulin ran 44.94 as a soph two years, but was bothered by injuries last year. She could return to form this year.

Helix's Barmer was a sensational frosh last year, running 45.33.

The 45.66 for Sherry Randolph and the 47.8 of Erin Martin both date back to 1997, when both were freshmen.

This year's best new prospect is Eastlake's Johnson, who could be successful in at least eight or nine different events. She's real raw in the hurdles, but she has already run a 45.6, on a dirt track. She's a smooth-looking athlete, who just glides and floats.

Bobby Salimi

Another impressive new hurdler is San Pasqual's Morgan Albini, who is a national-class field hockey player. A sophomore new to track, she ran 48.5 on dirt at Falcon last week, winning the B heat. She couldn't be entered in the Invitational race because she had no previous time.

Morse has another impressive new hurdler, freshman Cheryl Hawkins, who so far is better in the highs, although she is already in the 49s in this event.

Among returners, RB's Coin, Hilltop's Jimenez and Granite's Morgan all are quality runners. Coin, with a basketball-aided late start, is already far ahead of her times last season. Jimenez comes out of the strong Hilltop long hurdle program, and Avery is a sophomore coming into her own.

What to look for:

This could be the best year in the boys vault since 1995, when three area vaulters pushed each to record heights, ending in Torrey Pines' Mike Brown taking the state title at a section record 16-4.

The state title and section record might be asking a bit much, but there will be some great marks.

Grossmont's Jonathan Takahashi and Mt. Carmel's Travis Offner have already made sure of that when they both put up 15-foot vaults in early season meets.

Offner, in only his second year of vaulting, has the potential to challenge 16-feet according to Sundevail vault coach Dennis McClanahan.

Takahashi, who is grooming himself for a multi-event future, also has 16-feet in his sights. In winning at 15-0 at the Long Beach Relays, "there was no effort to it," Grossmont coach Erl Cabanas said.

A few other area jumpers could challenge 15-feet.

Priest has a new vault coach, former Poway assistant John Uelses, and RBV has a strong vault tradition.

Castle Park's Munoz had some big clearances in winning at 14-1 at the Sweetwater Relays, and he could be ready to pop a big jump.

Eastlake's Doria has already moved his PR up a foot, to 13-9, and he looks ready to break into the 14-foot range at any time.

Athletes like Mt. Carmel's Jeter, RB's Dorminy and Vista's Murillo are all at schools with strong vault programs, and should thrive.

What to look for:

Will RB's recent domination of the girls vault stay in place?

It might seem so off early season results. Pascarella cleared 11 feet to win the Bronco Invite, and teammate Julie Hudlow has already raised her PR to 10-6.

RB vault coach Tom Martin's charges thus are currently ranked one-two in the county. He thinks Pasacarella, who was late starting track this year (she was on the basketball squad that went deep into the CIF playoffs), has the potential to challenge 12 feet.

A number of other jumpers are in range to make a challenge. Five girls have PRs of 10 feet, and another four or five have the chance to go that high or higher.

Strong vault programs are emerging at Mira Mesa, Carlsbad and Eastlake, all of which have two or more quality jumpers going. Mira Mesa, especially, seems to steer top quality athletes into the event. Eastlake's athletes are taking off in all events, the vault being no exception.

Bonita Vista, Vista, Mt. Carmel and Poway are other strong vault teams.

A newcomer to the event is Torrey Pines senior Holcomb, who has a gymnastics background. She's already at 10 feet.

It would be no surprise for a relatively unknown athlete to make a big level jump, so to speak, and put herself into the picture.

What to look for:

By any standard, the triple jump has been one of the strongest events at the local level, both on the boys and girls side. There have been nine state champions (six boys, and three girls) since 1973, when the state added the event to its championships. Of course, that string began with legendary Willie Banks of Oceanside, who went on to set a world record. Most recent state champs have been Von Ware of RBV, in 1994, and El Camino's Andria Booker, in 1998.

On the boys side, there may not be a state championship in the cards, but the leaders in the event could get close to 50 feet, which is always a standard of excellence.

Helix's Ortiz, a senior, bounded 48-plus last year. The normal range of improvement puts him near 50 feet.

Sweetwater's Harvey, a junior, is new to this level, but he is a maturing athlete with a lot of talent. His early-season 47-0 was no fluke, as he backed that up with a 46-6 win at the Eagle Rock relays. He battled strong cross winds and cool temperatures at the Sweetwater Relays last week, but jumped five feet farther than his rivals, which included the Morse contingent.

Reynolds, who transferred from Serra to UC this year, is another strong contender. He's already at 46-2 this season.

Monte Vista's Randall jumped 44-plus last year, and has already PR'd this season.

Morse has a raft of good jumpers, and one or more could make a big move up.

Eastlake's Curry, a junior, has a lot of all-around talent, and could improve dramatically in this event.

RB's Williams is new to this event, but has excellent speed and jumping ability (6-6 in high jump). He could, as RB coach Don Jones likes to say, "go off."

RB's Rashard Holmes will miss the year after having knee surgery. He is expected back for his senior season.

What to look for:

This could be a relatively wide open year in the girls triple.

Fallbrook's Ropes has already posted a PR, and she will be near the top of the list all year.

Valhalla's George had the longest jump last year of all the returning athletes, and has great jumping ability.

RBV's Neal missed last year with an injury, and she may not try the jumps this season. She's running well in the sprints, the triple jump is extremely ballistic, and RBV has another quality athlete, Megan Barnes, to cover this event.

An intriguing newcomer is Vista's Jenny Fairchild. She's a junior who moved here from the Pasadena area, where she was a sub-60 400 runner and a 5-foot high jumper. She's new to the triple, but shows a lot of promise after her 36-9 at the Bronco Invite. She'll be sidelined until early May, however.

Weaver's PR dates back to 1997, and she may not get back to that form.

La Jolla's Givens is a quality athlete in a number of events.

Trandon Harvey
Sweetwater

The Monte Vista jump factory always produces quality performers, and will have several girls on this year's jump lists.

Last year's soph sensation, Hoover's Arkisha Iverson, has moved her 38-8 talent to Louisiana.

This is an event into which coaches will often move a talented all-around athlete, often with dramatically successful results. Eastlake's Tanisha Johnson, for an example, could probably go crazy in this event, but she is so good in almost everything else that she may never have the opportunity.

Tony Ortiz

What about Track & Field Shoes?

Why do we need track spikes?

Track spikes provide superior traction on all track surfaces. An athlete who is not using a track spike will slip on every step losing forward thrust. All track athletes from sprints through distances can improve running speed by using spiked shoes.

Will track spikes protect or support my feet?

Absolutely not. In fact, the use of track spikes will increase the load on your feet and lower leg. Spikes have one purpose only - speed. They are for improving performance on the track and should not be expected to provide any type of protection.

Should I fit my track shoes like my training shoes?

While we encourage athletes to leave plenty of room at the toe of their trainers, track shoes must fit fairly close in order to work properly. The big toe must come over the lead spike so that you can push off on it. Sprinters need a closer fit than distance runners do.

Which type of shoe is best for my event?

Track spikes are divided into two basic types. All purpose spikes (which have a heel wedge) and sprint spikes (which have no heel wedge). The sprint spikes are useful only to athletes who do not touch their heel to the ground during their event. This is usually distances of 800 meters or less. The all purpose spikes are for all events from sprints through distances, jumps, hurdles, and pole vault. The spikes are further divided into those with flexible spike plates and those with rigid spike plates. The flexible plate is preferred by distance runners and beginning track athletes because they require less energy to run in. The rigid spike plate is preferred by sprinters and jumpers because it offers a good lever for increased thrust on every step.

What size spikes will I need for my track shoes?

Spike size varies with the track surface that you'll be competing on. In San Diego county most of the tracks are decomposed granite. 3/8 inch spikes are needed for these tracks. In addition, you will go through several sets of these spikes per season as they tend to wear down on this abrasive surface. Most track shoes come with 3/16 inch spikes which are useful on most synthetic tracks and virtually all runways and high jump areas. Special "Christmas tree" spikes are required for athletes competing on the Mondo track at Balboa Stadium. Never use spikes that are too long for the surface you are on because they will tear the spike ports out of your shoes.

How do I install the spikes?

Care must be taken to install the spikes so that they do not become jammed in the spike ports. Start by turning them in by hand and finish by gently snugging them up with the spike wrench. Do not force them if they don't turn smoothly. Back them out and start over again. Never use the shoes with the spike ports empty and change your spikes before they become too worn down.

What to look for:

The past two or three years have been a high-water mark for the boys shot in local circles.

In 1999, two were past 60 feet: Bernard Grady and Dan Ames.

In 1998, four were at 60 feet or better, including Ames, Vili Makihele, Taras Rohde and Roy Rivas, Jr.

In 1997, both Ames and Makihele surpassed 60-feet.

In all of San Diego prep track history, in only five other years did more than one thrower hit the 60 foot mark, and in none of those years were there more than two, so the recent streak is unprecedented.

(For the record, there were two local 60-foot throwers in 1957, 1961, 1969, 1973 and 1978.)

With the bar of expectations raised, other athletes are already "thinking" 60 feet is the minimum standard.

Best bets this year are Mira Mesa's Jones and Helix's Watkins. Both finished the year in the 55-foot range last season, which is where Bernard Grady was as a junior.

A fast improver is Carlsbad's Viera, who improved to 53-11 at the Falcon Relays last week. His best last year was 51-2.

El Cap's Asch, better in the disc, is throwing consistently past 50 this season, and looks bigger. He was part of that great El Cap weight team last year.

The Metro League has good depth this year, as many of the league's track coaches seem to work well with their school's football coaches.

What to look for:

Hill could be on her way to rewriting the area record books in this event.

She seemed to finish last season on a strong note, medaling at state with a 43-8.5 throw. That was nothing, however, compared to what she did in the postseason.

In the mid-summer California Games, Hill uncorked a 47-2.5 throw that put her at second place on the all-time local shot list. She finished the year (Track & Field News recognizes off-season efforts as legitimate marks) at third in the state, and 11th in the nation. Four of the girls ahead of her return, including both California athletes.

You could see it building all year, in retrospect, as she reached the 42-foot range in a number of meets last year, with less than technically excellent throws. She would hit a 42-footer, and walk away shaking her head.

She was late starting this season (after basketball) but is already at 42-3.

There's great depth behind her, as some exciting new athletes join with solid returners.

RB's Austin reached 39-11 last year, and she will mostly concentrate on throws this year. She's been a quality all-around athlete, running hurdles, high jumping and running solid cross country.

Annemarie Taumauu
Sweetwater

RBV's Henry is a returning state meet qualifier. She had knee surgery in the fall, but is already starting to throw well.

Sweetwater's Taumauu is a freshman with great potential. She's still got a lot of rough edges, but the talent is there, and she's already at 39-2.

San Marcos has twin sisters, the Makiheles, who are sophomores. They played softball last spring, but decided to try track this year.

Younger sisters of Vili Makihele, who threw 61-10 for San Marcos in 1998, they already are polished spinners. Raeanna is the best of the two in the shot, at 38-10 already, with Brianna at 36-1. Brianna is the better of the pair in the disc.

Lincoln's Harper returns to track after not competing last year, and has already added four feet to her PR.

Scripps' Morris is another that could approach 40 feet. The Scripps' throws program has been strong in recent years.

The best girls throws program is probably at Escondido, where coach Liz Mueller consistently has quality and depth, with a constantly changing cast.

The Out of Town News: Pasadena Games: UC sprinters burn 41.55

UC's sprint relay team made the Pasadena Games their coming out party, racing to a quick 41.55 to win the boys 4x100 relay.

UC used the same combo that ran 41.24 last year, with Jesse Bowman, Steve Hayes, Chauncey Smith and Lamont Long handling the baton, in that order.

"It's the first time they've run together this year," UC coach John Hutsel said.

Hayes and Long were 1-3 in the 100 meters, and Long came back to take fourth in the 200. Hayes retired for the night after tightening up after the 100, and the UC 4x400 team scratched their race.

UC's Katherine Ziegler looked good, taking the girls 1600 in 5:12.92.

At Pasadena City College, March 25.

Meet of Champs: Breakthrough for Vista aces

Vista's Justin Neuroth may have found a new race, as he impressively won at the Azusa-Pacific Meet of Champions, a distance carnival, last week.

Neuroth followed J. J. Duke of Clovis for the first six laps of the 3200 meters, and then put the pedal to the metal. His last 800 was run in 2:12, and Neuroth won the race in 9:18.1, a big PR for him. His previous best was 9:44. The clocking was the fastest outdoor time in the state at the time.

Another breakthrough, in the same race, was Vista's Ryan Montez running 9:29.2, bringing down his best of 9:43.

The times, fast for early season, mean that Neuroth could be a serious contender in the CIF and Masters 3200, if he decides to go that way. For Montez, his time also puts him right into the pack of best local contenders.

Vista's Jared Emmons clocked a season best of 1:55.8 to win the invitational 800, which was his first serious 800 effort this year.

At Azusa Pacific University, March 25.

Eagle Rock:

UC quick

A number of local athletes looked sharp at the Eagle Rock Relays at Occidental College, on March 18.

University City's boys sprint crew fielded a number of quick relay teams, splitting up their usual varsity lineup.

They still came up with varsity relay teams that ran 42.2 for the 4x100, 1:27.28 for the 4x200 and 3:23.89 for the 4x400. They also had quick frosh soph relay teams.

Best field marks for area boys were by UC's Jon Reynolds (22-2 in the long jump, and 46-2 in the triple) and Sweetwater's Trandon Harvey (46-6, to win the triple jump).

In girls action, Eastlake's 4x100 team ran 49.8, and won. In the field, Eastlake's B. J. Hayes won the long jump (16-6.5) and triple jump (34-2.5). Sweetwater's frosh shot putter Annemarie Taumuaa threw 38-1 for second place.

Hilltop's Desiree Davila anchored her team's 4x800 with a 2:21 split.

Long Beach: Takahashi vaults 15-0

Grossmont's Jonathan Takahashi opened his season with a winning jump of 15 feet in the boys pole vault at the Long Beach Relays, at Long Beach City College, March 18.

The Grossmont senior also ran 15.47 in the 110 highs to take fourth.

Bonita Vista athletes put up a number of good marks, including a 10.8 in the 100 by David Hannibal.

The Local News: Sweetwater:

Desi's the comeback kid; Munoz, Curry soar

For once, Monique Henderson didn't have the most impressive set of relay carries.

It happened at last week's Sweetwater Relays.

There was nothing wrong with Monique. She got the baton in the lead in the 440 relay, and the race was over. Then, she got tangled up in a messy handoff (from a 110 runner to a 440 runner, which is a dangerous combination) in the sprint medley.

The tangle ruined her relay split, but Morse was again an easy winner.

Henderson later ran the third leg of the mile relay, easily ran down what opposition there was and handed off with a big lead.

Hilltop's Desiree Davila had much tougher assignments. She began with an almost hopeless deficit in the distance medley. She ran the anchor mile in 5:11 to pull her team near the lead.

Later, she anchored the co-ed 4x880 relay. Again, she was way, way back. She unfurled a 2:19 and Hilltop took second in the race.

NOTE: Desi's splits were for yard distances.

She topped that off with a good carry in the mile relay.

Relay carries were the highlight of a meet that featured only relays on the track.

In the field, there some impressive efforts.

Eastlake's Wade Curry cleared 6-4, and by plenty, for the best high jump of the day.

Castle Park's Javier Munoz had great height on his clearances in the pole vault, and he ended up with a PR of 14-1.

Sweetwater's Trandon Harvey was hampered by a chilly crosswind, but he dominated his events, jumping against quality opposition.

El Capitan's Travis Asch had a good weight double, PRing in the shot at 50-8.5 and returning to win the disc at 161-2.

The results:

Saturday, March 25 at Sweetwater High School. Conditions: Dirt track, in good shape, strong cross winds, aiding only vaulters. Temperatures ranged from comfortable in afternoon, to cool in evening. All distances were yards, except for shuttle hurdles.

Falcon: Torrey aces duel; Pound blazes

The highlight of last week's Falcon Relays was Audrey Pound's speedy, and unpressed, 45.5 in the invite 300 hurdles.

It was on dirt, and she won by four seconds. Questions?

Actually, there was another impressive effort in the B race of the girls 300 hurdles, where San Pasqual's Morgan Albini ran to a big win in 48.5, impressive for a new hurdler.

Torrey's distance aces got together for a decent 1500, as Julie Komosinski ran to a meet record 4:45.5, just ahead of Angela Petersen's 4:46.5. Those times convert to about the 4:06/4:07 range by Track & Field News standards.

Some good athletes were missing. Vista's boy distance aces were at the Meet of Champions, and Mt. Carmel's two excellent vaulters were away on college visits.

The results:

At Torrey Pines High School, Saturday, March 25. Conditions: said to be excellent: sunny and comfortable. The track is dirt.

Fox and Golston, for their part, looked like potential state champions in fine early season form.

Henderson, of course, is an actual state champion, two times over, and she looked like it.

This came after Henderson ran a rare 800 meters. Her inexperience in the event showed just a bit, but she ran from the front and won in 2:16.51, holding off Torrey's Julie Komosinski.

Fox was amazing. The boys 1600 field, taking the heat into account, ran a leisurely 67 opening lap. Then, Vista's Justin Neuroth threw in a 62-second lap. Fox calmly reeled him and basically kept going at the same speed for the rest of the race.

In his wake were the who's who of local distance running, including Jon Rankin, Sean Ricketts, Neuroth, Ryan Moorcroft, Travis Laird, Josh Pope, and more. They all ran well, but Fox was on a different level.

Later, Fox ran a sub-50-second opening leg on West Hills' 3:22.7 4x400 team.

Golston not only ran fast, but he competed well against fields that included RB's Bobby Salimi, and Granite Hills' Jeff Hunter, two state meet-caliber performers. They also had top-quality early season times.

Around the oval, the hits just kept on coming.

Mt. Carmel's Travis Offner PR'd at 15 feet to win the boys vault, and RB's Molly Pascarella kept the Bronco "sky ranch" tradition aloft by clearing a PR 11 feet to take the girls vault.

In the boys 800 meters, also begun leisurely, RBV's Nick Thornton and West Hills' Ben Aragon dueled down the stretch. Thornton edged ahead to win in 1:56.04. In a fast mass finish, seven athletes ran 2:01.00 or faster.

The girls 1600 was interesting, featuring a pair of girls that will probably end the season matched up in the 3200.

RB's Julie Manson set a wicked early pace, and Torrey's Angela Petersen caught her in the last lap, winning in 5:04.89. Manson got a PR in second, at 5:06.11.

There was much more, but this is only a 16-page newspaper. The results:

Saturday, March 18 at Poway High School. Conditions: Sunny and fairly hot. Wind mostly calm; no aiding wind in any straightaway races or jumping events; possible slight headwinds during both boys and girls 100 meters. Heat was a definite factor in all races from 1600 meters and up. All-weather, fast track surface.

Bronco: Simply amazing

There were jaw-dropping efforts almost everywhere you looked at the Bronco Invitational.

The marks bordered on the incredible, given the time of year (very early season).

The meet was staged at Poway High this year in an effort to ensure fast times and qualifiers for Arcadia.

Among the great races, four stood out.

First, West Hills' Evan Fox ran a 4:14.02 for 1600 off a slow early pace, beating an all-star field.

Then, Point Loma's Tony Golston, in his first try at the hurdles this year, beat excellent fields in 14.42 and 38.02.

Finally, Morse's Monique Henderson strapped on some rockets to zip a 53.2 relay anchor, coming from way back to overhaul Rancho Bernardo's Alexis Tate, who was running a good 59.0.

Henderson was undeniable, running in control and making up ground, and, finally, launching past Tate at the tape like a missile. It was a photo finish, and the judges awarded the race to the Tigers.

Tiger: Girls sharp; track's not

The Tiger Relays' only individual race produced the best mark of the meet, as Rancho Bernardo's Julie Manson ran away from a top-quality field in the 3200 meters.

Her winning mark of 10:54.5 was the leading outdoor state 3200 mark in early season.

Manson raced a 5:21 for the first 1600, and looked relaxed in doing so. She left runners like Julie Komosinski, Angela Petersen and Desiree Davila up the track. Komosinski used her late speed to first overtake Davila, then teammate Petersen, for second.

Next best effort on the day was a 53.8 400-meter relay carry by Morse's Monique Henderson in the sprint relay.

There were other quality marks, which have mostly been overshadowed by later meets.

One undercurrent of the meet was the shabby condition of the Balboa Stadium facility, scheduled to host the CIF semifinals.

That may not be the case this year, given the mood of the CIF meet directors.

There were numerous concerns that now have CIF meet officials openly talking of moving the CIF semis to another facility. The new track layout at Escondido High seems the likely candidate to replace Balboa.

Julie Manson
Rancho Bernardo

Some of the meet organizers will tour the Escondido facility as early as this weekend to determine its suitability for hosting the meet.

There were some possible problems at Escondido, such as sightlines, but they seemed minor compared to the maintenance that is obviously needed to restore Balboa.

Saturday, March 11, at Balboa Stadium. Conditions: all-weather, mondo track in fair shape; no aiding winds in jumps; bright sunshine; warm.

Best 2000 Marks:

For updates on this list between issues of Track Magazine, please consult our web site at: www.crowncity.com/sdtrackmag
NOTE: Minimum standards for marks listed are identical to San Diego Union-Tribune standards.

Converted times from yard distances are noted (example: 52.4c), and conversions are based on the Track & Field News BIG RED BOOK.
In the 100, 200, 4x100 Relay, 100 Hurdles and 110 High Hurdles, separate lists are maintained for hand times and automatic times.

In all other events, hand times and automatic times are combined on the same lists. The hand times are to tenths of a second, and automatic times are in hundredths. On our lists, they are ranked in numerical order although it is recognized that automatic times are 0.24 seconds faster than hand times. Thus, a 51.23 (automatic) is superior to a 51.0 (hand), although we don't list them that way.

Please notify Track Magazine with corrections, omissions or additions.
